The strange actions of a dog on Elm and Summer streets yesterday afternoon caused no little apprehension among many people in that vicinity lest the animal be mad. The dog was first noticed near the junction of Elm street and Eastern avenue going in short circles, progressing a little with each circle, until after an hour or so, it reached a point at the corner of Summer street and Keith avenue. Here its advance was halted, but it continued to make circles, not minding teams, automobiles or pedestrians. It was watched by many people, who finally decided that something ought to be done, so they got a barrel and placed the open end in front of the circumambulating canine; and doggie walked in as if it were its own kennel. Then the trappers suddenly tipped up the barrel and the dog was a prisoner. The barrel was placed in a vacant lot nearby and the dog remained a prisoner all night. Eugene Sullivan was found to be the owner and he took charge of it to-day. The dog was not mad; it was sick.

JOINT PLANT ON OUTING.

J. P. Corskie & Son and E. A. Bugbee & Co. at Fairmont Park.

The employees of J. P. Corskie & Son and the E. A. Bugbee & Co. held a joint picnic Saturday at Fairmont park. From both plants, including their families and invited friends, there were nearly 200 people in attendance during the day. Favored by auspicious weather, the event was the most successful ever held by the joint sheds. The arrangement committee spared no pains in the efforts to register the affair as a big success. The grounds were equipped with swings, ferris wheels and sliding ropes.

During the greater part of the day Mr. Bugbee had his touring car at the disposal of the picnickers. Nearly every person in the park enjoyed a flying spin around the old race track. According to unofficial timers, many new records were established for the mile and other distances. Great interest was centered in the baseball game between the employees of the plants. The game was won by the representatives of the Bugbee works by a score of 4 to 1. Ably backed by a reputable infield and outfield "Bob" Phillips and "Bob" Gamble led their team on to victory. Phillips was unattainable and allowed the losers but one lowly counter. Gamble did admirable work behind the plate. The real strength of the winning team, though, was centered around "Skipt" Scott and Frank Gladding, who responded with slashing hits when hits were needed. Gladding displayed '98 form in the field. Capt. Louis Drake, the Corskie pitcher, was hammered hard. Peter Fraser caught for the Corskie team. George Tooper, an old timer ball player, greatly strengthened the chances of the losing aggregation. Following the baseball contest came the tug-of-war match between selected athletes of the two sheds. In this event of the Corskie plant managed to win, taking two out of three pulls. Seven men represented each side. Other sports contested during the day resulted as follows:
